“We will do what we say we are going to do, on time and within budget, every time.”

At Muckle LLP we have built a national reputation as one of the leading UK law firms advising sporting and recreational organisations and sports people. We have gained this through dedication to providing the best advice and service possible and by doing what we say we are going to do, on time and within budget, every time. The firm has 29 partners, 83 lawyers and a total team of over 145.

We place a high priority on our ability to give commercial advice in addition to robust legal assistance. We appreciate that clients need their lawyers to understand the practical and commercial drivers in any transaction, not just the legal issues.

We service our clients across the UK from our office in Newcastle upon Tyne. This is a benefit, not a hindrance, as it allows us to be highly competitive with our prices. Wherever our clients are situated they all enjoy a tailored service that makes them feel as though we are just next door. Distance is never an issue and we never charge for travelling time.

Please ask us to provide a quotation for any areas of advice that you are seeking.

Our personal and tailored approach has helped us build enduring relationships with clients across the UK. The size and stature of each sporting organisation that we work with is irrelevant to us from a service and value adding perspective. Every client who we work with should expect the best service levels and advice from us, so this is precisely what we provide.

We advise numerous sports clubs at grass roots level and we also advise 60 of the 92 league clubs in English football, plus over 40 other professional clubs in rugby union, rugby league, cricket, basketball and ice hockey. Our highest levels of client care and individual attention remain consistent in all cases.

What differentiates us from other firms is the level of engagement we provide and the commitment we are prepared to give to all of our clients, irrespective of size. We see our role as offering more than legal services and we are proud of our reputation in supporting communities across the UK.

As a National Governing Body you can be assured that we you will be treated as a priority client by everyone at Muckle LLP.
